BIOGRAPHY

Now a multi-award winning film composer and multi-nominated songwriter, Ros began his musical journey at just five years old, as a student of the renown Gnnessin Music School. A successful career as a violinist followed, which saw him perform across three continents, making multiple appearances on national TV and radio and later becoming second leader of the internationally esteemed European Philharmonic Orchestra.

A sudden hand-injury forced him to end his promising violin career, but Ros fought his way back to his passion – reinventing himself as a composer, conductor and music producer. After studying at the world-famous University of Music in Vienna and the prestigious Royal College of Music, London, Ros earned his Master's degree in Composition for Film.

Ros has recently completed work on HBO's original series Folklore, to be aired in autumn 2021. His work has earned him the Audience Award for Best Music at the "British Animation Film Festival", the Aphrodite Film Award in New York as well as several industry nominations, most notably for the acclaimed "American Songwriting Awards". Ros's music has repeatedly been featured on BBC4 Radio, BBC Music Magazine, the Times Series as well as on Classic FM social media feed. He regularly appears on radio, podcasts and online publications. On Spotify, Ros' music has been streamed close to 2 million times.

As a conductor Ros has worked with the Macedonian Symphony Orchestra, Prague Metropolitan Orchestra, Pro-Arte-Orchestra, Nouvelle Cuisine Big Band and others.

In addition to a Master Degree in composition, Ros holds a Diploma in Music Business (MMBE) and is the owner and managing director of record label "GuiRo Music".
